

FIRST WITNESS CALLED IN TRIAL OF DYNAMITER

STEWART IS REMANDED TO U. S. SENATE

Writ of Habeas Corpus Denied; Appeal Bond is Filed

Washington, Feb. 23.—(AP)—For a fleeting moment today the Senate got its hands on Robert W. Stewart, Chairman of the Board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, but he quickly slipped away into the arms of the courts which once before had taken him from the Congressional grasp.

A writ of habeas corpus, which the oil man obtained after the Senate had arrested him for refusing to answer questions of the Teapot Dome committee, was dismissed by Justice Bailey in the District of Columbia Supreme Court, and for a moment the waiting Senate Sergeant-at-Arms really had custody of the reluctant witness.

But it was only a theoretical control, for Stewart's attorneys immediately noted an appeal and placed a bond of $5,000 for him, and now he has forty days in which to perfect the appeal and the record in the case for the Court of Appeals.

The court held the grounds on which the oil man refused to testify on the question of the Liberty bonds of the Continental Trading Company "were frivolous and without legal basis."

The writ of habeas corpus will be discharged, and the petitioner remanded to the custody of the respondents," he said.

Blackmer Got $750,000
H. M. Blackmer, missing witness in the Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy case, got $750,000 of profits in the Continental Trading Company deal, the Teapot Dome committee was told today by his attorney, Karl C. Schuyler of Denver.

Schuyler said the former Chairman of the Board of the Midwest Refining Company gave him this information in Montreal in July, 1926, when he asked the attorney to act for him. The witness testified that Blackmer had informed him "unequivocally" that he had no knowledge that any funds of the Continental had been used to influence the lease of the Teapot Dome naval oil reserve or for any unlawful purpose.

"I believed him then and I have had no cause to change my mind since," Schuyler declared.

Report New Plane of Lindy Design

Detroit, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Out of a maze of conjectures as to the purpose of the "mystery flight" to Detroit yesterday of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, the most authenticated report today was that the visit centered around an inspection of a model of a new airplane in which the trans-Atlantic flier was understood to have had a hand in designing.

In the absence of any announcement by Col. Lindbergh or any of his associates, the reports were based on the flier's movements and information gleaned from persons at Selfridge field, where Col. Lindbergh and four St. Louis men who accompanied him here from the Missouri city spent last night.

It was reliably stated today that Col. Lindbergh and Major Thomas G. Lanphier, flight commander at Selfridge field, met with representatives of the Ford Motor Co. in a hangar at the field and inspected the new model plane. It was for his, according to the information obtained, from the specification furnished by Col. Lindbergh and Major Lanphier. Details of the plane remained a secret.

State Calls Remus

Lima, Ohio, Feb. 23.—(AP)—George Remus took the stand today as a state witness in the hearing before the Court of Appeals on his application for release from the state hospital for the criminal insane.

When the hearing was resumed today Walter K. Sibbald of state counsel demanded an explanation from the defense as to why Remus had not testified.

D. C. Henderson, one of Remus' attorneys, said that the defense believed he could add nothing to the testimony and that he would only prolong the hearing if called. Henderson invited the state to call Remus if it wanted his testimony, and Sibbald immediately summoned him. Remus took the stand and launched into an account of his life. He was permitted to talk on without questioning.

FEAR OF BOMB WAVE SPREADS AMONG CHICAGO OFFICIALS AS GUARDS ARE PLACED AT HOMES

Chicago, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Homes of fourteen prominent Chicagoans, including those of the Mayor, Police Chief, Comptroller, City Collector and some city judges—all more or less closely aligned with the administration—were under guard today as fear of the bomb wave spread.

Guards were placed last night about the residences of Superior Judge Emmanuel Eller and his father, Morris Eller, City Collector. The Morris Eller home was bombed, Sept. 2, 1926.

The police on guard duty have been told to shoot to kill if bombers appear.

In a few instances the police protection has taken the form of patrolling detective squads which drove past the houses under guard. In the case of others, however, including the homes of Mayor Thompson, Police Chief Hughes, State's Attorney Crowe and Judge Eller, officers stand on duty constantly.

The police and the State's Attorney's office admittedly were no nearer a clue than before. A reward of $10,000 offered by State's Attorney Crowe for information has brought no clues.

Warned Month Ago, Takes One Chance, Is Dead

Chicago, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Warned a month ago by rival bootlegging gangsters that if he stepped outside his home he would never return alive Frank Leonatti took a chance today. He walked twenty feet from his own front door and two bullets cut him down. He died before police arrived.

Leonatti was the keeper of the "hangout" for the notorious "Forty-Two" gang. It was a soft drink place, and he also owned the Pleasure Inn, a roadhouse near Elgin. The soft drink place was on the south side.

He had twice been seized by police, once in connection with a west side murder, and again on a charge of attempting to force a young girl into an immoral life.

Leonatti was 40 years old and police said he was a cousin of the wife of "Diamond" Joe Esposito, widely known politician and restaurant owner.

JURY WILL SOON HAVE OLSON CASE FOR DELIBERATION

Second Rockford Murder Case is Nearing Conclusion

Rockford, Ill., Feb. 23.—So powerful was State's Attorney William D. Knight's opening plea in the trial of Henry T. Olson, on trial the second time for the murder of Floyd Stotler, that the defense quickly changed its announced plan of making no argument to the jury, and they informed Judge Arthur E. Fisher that they would present their plea to the jury today.

Attorneys Harry B. and Frank North for the defense had intended to dispense with their arguments and let the case go to the jury at the conclusion of Mr. Knight's plea, but the state's attorney's address was so powerful that the defense changed its plans.

Asks for Senior Olson.
"In poetry, in prose, in song, in the histories of the world, we find one wonderful fact, the love of a father for his son," Mr. Knight said.

"Emmanuel Olson, the father of Henry Olson, did not testify at this trial. Why? I'll tell you—for one of two reasons. Either he knows that Henry was not at home at the time of this murder and does not wish to testify falsely to clear his boy's name, or Harry North and Henry Olson do not want him here."

"Emmanuel Olson was not called as a witness," the prosecutor thundered. "He was home at the time of the crime, he should know all about it. But that kind old man was not called upon to testify. I want you to remember that, gentlemen."

The state also laid great stress on the fact that the defense did not summon J. L. Donnet, driver of a Rockford Public Service bus to testify, as he did at the first trial of Olson in November, pertaining to Mrs. Olson alighting from a bus at about 9:10 o'clock across the street from the home, 1318 Kishwaukee street, the night of September 6, when Stotler was killed at 9:20 o'clock, and of being met there on the curbing across the street by her husband. The state has always questioned Mrs. Olson's being a passenger on that bus.

None of Family at Scene.
"Doesn't it strike you as odd that nobody from the Olson residence went to the scene of the murder, a short block from the Olson home?" the prosecutor asked the jury.

"The past night Henry's home. People were running there from all directions, but not a soul came there from the Olson home."
At this point the prosecutor took pains to review the testimony of two witnesses, Anne Danielson and Folke Engstrom, who testified to seeing a tall man and a short man race from the Hart gasoline station at Kishwaukee and Broadway, where Floyd Stotler lay gasping in a pool of blood. Those two men fled across Broadway diagonally in a southeast direction, halted momentarily for a hasty conference and then changed their course, running northeast across a field, part of which is in the rear of the Olson home, evidence showed.

In this event it will be necessary, he added, to prorate each claim. In order that claimants may receive their pro-rated share of the dog license fund for sheep claims, they should file at once.

They were Barry Sexton, Major C. P. Watson, Frank Spalding, Walter Young, Will Smith and Frank Butler.

SERVICE BUREAU FOR FAIR SEX

Telegraph Compiles List of Eligible Bachelors and Widowers for Leap Year Activities

It seems as though the Chamber of Commerce ought to take a hand in this thing and advertise to the astigmatized world at large that Lee County is the best hunting ground on the face of the earth for husband-hunting girls. During Leap Year, Ind., while being taken to the reformatory at Pendleton, are believed to have passed through Fairmont yesterday.

The two also are reported to have been seen Tuesday at Blue Earth, 20 miles east of here.
H. O. Miller, Fairmont meat dealer, today told local authorities he is positive the two men who stopped in his store to buy meat are the two prisoners whose pictures were published in a Fairmont newspaper yesterday.

From Blue Earth comes the report that Harry Pfeffer had recognized the pictures of the men as the two who had stopped in that town for information.

TWO-GUN TERRORIST SHOT UP "SPEAK EASY" IN DIME NOVEL FASHION; KILLED BARTENDER

Chicago, Feb. 23.—(AP)—A two-gun terrorist, apparently crazed by drinks or drugs, shot up a blind pig in dime novel style shortly after midnight today, calmly reloaded his guns, ordered three drinks and then shot the bartender dead, robbed the cash register, and escaped, while twenty men and women looked on helplessly.

Robert Wilson, 45, reported part owner of the alleged saloon, was the man killed.
All the patrons of the place fled after the shooting, except Daniel Johnson, who reported the shooting to the police.
Johnson said he had been in the place but a few minutes when the killer entered, drew two guns and emptied them at the floor and ceiling as he walked to the bar. He said the man terrorized them for a half hour, reloaded his guns and demanded a drink. With the remark: "Well, I guess your work is done," Johnson said, the man shot Wilson and fled.

James Casey, 44, was arrested today and identified as the man who did the shooting. Police said he was known as a drug addict and has served a penitentiary term for violation of the federal narcotic law.
Casey denied any knowledge of the shooting.

CHICAGO PAPER'S SEARCH FOR MAN IS SUCCESSFUL

Negro Who Misused Ad Columns Arrested in Kansas City

Chicago, Feb. 23.—(AP)—The Chicago Tribune, through the arrest of Malachi Crowe, negro ex-convict, has got its man.

For six months the newspaper has exercised its resources in a search for the man who employed Tribune want ad columns to lure Miss Ruth Simpson, a nurse, to a Winnetka suburban home where she was attacked. Thousands of dollars have been spent, the paper said today, in the chase.

Crowe, arrested yesterday in Kansas City, Kas., waived extradition and was started home. The Tribune said that the $1,000 reward it has offered and the $600 additional offered by the city of Winnetka would be paid to Sergeants William Roe and Walter Storms of the Chicago Detective Bureau who were active in the pursuit of Crowe.

To Furnish Example.
Full credit for the capture was given to the Chicago and Kansas City police by Moses Lamson, the Tribune reporter who for the past five months has devoted his entire time to the case. In assigning Lamson to the case, the newspaper said, "It was decided that an example should be made and a precedent established in the fraudulent use of Tribune columns."

Lamson wrote 700 long hand letters, sent out 3,800 circulars to police chiefs of the country, and wore out two automobiles, using one 2,800 miles in trips around the Chicago black belt alone. He spent more than $5,000, the newspaper said, before getting his man.

Got Tip From "Friend."
Information as to Crowe's whereabouts came from a supposed friend of the negro's who had been shown a police circular in Chicago. The information was given Sergeants Roe and Storms, who worked several weeks before finding Crowe employed in the home of a Kansas City attorney.

The crime for which Crowe was wanted was committed in the home of M. B. Austin, Winnetka, where Crowe was employed. The want ad lured Miss Simpson there. Following the attack, she jumped from a third story window, and recovered only recently from injuries that resulted.

Destruction of Our Resources is Decried

Aurora, Ill., Feb. 23.—(AP)—Wide-spread destruction of natural resources has brought about a condition dangerous to agriculture in America. Senator Harold C. Kessinger told the Izak Walton League state convention here last night.

"We Americans of the land of Washington and Lincoln have let the despoiler and the materialist devastate our forests, pollute our streams and mine out much of our oil," he told the convention.

"We need a national reforestation and conservation policy that will include an economic program, which will put the American farmer up to the American standard of living."
He cited the warning of Washington and Lincoln to guard the natural resources of America and hand them down as a heritage to generations yet unborn. Americans of the present generation, however, have wrecked much of these natural resources with careless abandon, he added, and they have set up a serious problem of restoring them before they completely disappear.

To Try, Try Again

Calexico, Calif., Feb. 23.—(AP)—The giant monoplane Albatross, burdened with a crew of three men and 1,300 gallons of gasoline, rose into the still air above this Imperial Valley city at 7:12 a. m., today in another attempt to break the world's record for duration flight.

Anonymous Note Adds Mystery in Murder of Woman

Bernardsville, N. J., Feb. 23.—(AP)—An anonymous letter containing $2,000 in bonds and $500 in cash, today disrupted the theory of police that robbery was the sole motive of the killer who burned Miss Margaret Brown, New York governess, to death by the roadside near here on Monday night. Miss Brown is believed to have had about $9,000 in cash and bonds with her when she left her employer's home Monday.

"I tried to take advantage of her," the letter, received by the police here, said, "but she refused. I hit her on the head and she fell. Thinking I had killed her I took gasoline from my car, poured it on her, lighting it and then drove away."

"I am very remorse * * * when I am caught I have something with me to end it all."

The coroner who performed an autopsy, found no indication of a blow on the head, such as the writer of the note described.

There were two bonds for $1,000 each, in the letter, one being a seven percent sinking fund bond of the Province of Buenos Aires and the other having been issued by the Cities Service Power & Light Company.

Senator Dailey is also very prominent in the legal profession, having served in Peoria as City Attorney and also as State's Attorney.

LaSalle Farm Bureau Seeking Equalization

Ottawa, Ill.—(AP)—Charging inequalities in tax assessments between city and country property, ranging from eight to fifteen per cent higher on farm lands, the LaSalle County Farm Bureau has instigated proceedings before the county board of review to secure an equalization.

In presenting its claims, the farm bureau asserted that the average farm land assessment in LaSalle county was 35.57 per cent of the sale value. City property owners, the bureau said, were required to pay on assessments that were from eight to fifteen per cent lower.

To equalize assessments, the farm bureau said, the following increases would be required in five cities: Fifty per cent in LaSalle; thirty per cent in Oglesby; 54.83 per cent in Ottawa; 65.53 per cent in Peru; and 46.39 per cent in Streator.

Valuation in villages would also be subjected to an increase to reach an average level of assessment throughout the county, the bureau said.

CHILDREN TO TESTIFY FOR STATE TODAY

Report Reed Wants to Offer Marriage to Girl in Court

Ottawa, Ill., Feb. 23.—(AP)—Twenty-three children were waiting in the court house here today to testify as to the bombing of their Pleasant Valley school house, while State's Attorney Russell O. Hanson made his opening statement charging young Hiram Reed with placing the dynamite that wrecked the building. As the children, between six and fourteen years of age, chattered and frolicked in a nearby room, the Attorney informed the jury that their teacher, Miss Lola Bradford, was about to become a mother.

Defense counsel objected strenuously to this information being given to the jury, but Hanson declared he wished to show a motive for the bombing. The state holds that the bushy-haired defendant, in order to avoid fatherhood and marriage, put dynamite in the stove of the school. Miss Bradford was severely injured by the explosion that followed her attempt to light a fire the next morning.

Girl Was in Tears.
The girl broke into tears as the State's Attorney referred to her as Reed's former sweetheart. She shook with sobs and seemed to be unable to control herself as Hanson detailed her narrow escape from death. Her mother, Mrs. Isabelle Bradford, of Chillicothe, sat near her, as did her sister, Mrs. Howard Clark.

The bombing was termed the worst crime of the kind ever perpetrated in LaSalle county by the State's Attorney.

Hanson's mother, Mrs. Hiram Reed, was in court again today, and it was believed she might have an opportunity to hear Miss Bradford testify against her son, for the state indicated the girl might be placed on the stand this afternoon.

Attorney Hanson's statement was to be followed by one for the defense, made by Attorney George Sprenger of Peoria.

Reports that young Reed would take the stand, affirm his love for the girl, deny his guilt, and propose marriage publicly, could not be confirmed as court opened.

May Propose Marriage.
Reed's attorney announced that he would ask permission of Judge Hayes today to make his marriage proposal to Miss Bradford in open court.

Since the trial started Monday Reed and Miss Bradford have sat within a few feet of each other daily. Reed with his counsel, the young school teacher beside the prosecuting attorney. No sign of recognition has passed between the two, although Reed only a short time before the bombing last Nov. 29 had agreed, Miss Bradford said, to marriage.

The school teacher informed of Reed's plan to make public proposal of marriage, provided the court would allow it, said she would be in court today. She expressed herself, however, as no longer in love with Reed.

A jury was completed late yesterday. The defense announced that it would seek to show that Reed is a victim of a "frameup," and that an alleged confession he made to the prosecuting attorney was signed only after Reed had been assured Miss Bradford would be protected against undesired publicity.

House Committee Cuts Navy Program

Washington, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Materially reducing the administration's new war ship construction program, the House Naval committee today decided to authorize the construction of fifteen cruisers and one aircraft carrier as against the 71 war vessels requested by Secretary Wilbur.

The committee's action was described by Chairman Butler as "practically unanimous."

The cost of the committee's program was estimated at $274,000,000 as against $740,000,000 proposed by the administration. Both of these figures are exclusive of aircraft and increased personnel for the ships.

The committee also provided a definite date for the sixteen ships. The first of the proposed vessels are to be laid down within three years from passage of the act and all are to be completed within six years.

Nicaragua Rebels are Kept on Run

Managua, Nicaragua, Feb. 23—(AP)—After slaying four rebels in different encounters in the Jinotega region, American Marines today were keeping small bands of rebels on the run.

In three encounters at scattered points in the region, the Marines also wounded several rebels but suffered no casualties themselves.

The rebels encountered are believed to be part of the band of 75 which recently seized the town of Trinidad, looted some stores and disappeared before the Marines arrived.

Two rebels of a small band observed east of Naranjo, which is southeast of Jinotega, were slain by machine gun fire from a scout plane.

Captain George T. Hall, whose base is at Estel, signalled to airplanes that while on patrol near the same locality he encountered a band of rebels and killed two of them.

Six miles from Homonico, between Jinotega and Matagalpa, a patrol under Lieutenant H. A. Shiebler surprised a small band of guerrillas. The rebels opened fire. The Marines returned the rebel fire, wounded two and routed the insurgents. Some stolen property was recovered.

JURY WILL SOON HAVE OLSON CASE FOR DELIBERATION

"Orville Stotler saw the man who shot down his father before his eyes," Knight said. "He got a good look at the features, hands and clothes of the murderer. He names Olson as the slayer. The picture has been into his memory forever. How can he be mistaken?"

Clashes With Prosecutor.

The prosecutor clashed with Attorney Harry North upon several occasions.

"Harry North asked Patrolman Jack Ott if he had talked with Orville Stotler at St. Anthony's hospital right after the shooting," Mr. Knight said.

"It is part of the evidence that he did," Orville Stotler said to Mr. Ott that he believed he could identify or describe the murderers. Did Harry North ask Mr. Ott what that description was? He did not."

"I didn't have to," interrupted Attorney North.

"Well, you didn't," shouted the prosecutor.

Orville Stotler's conversation with Patrolman Ott took place at St. Anthony's hospital, after the shooting.

The state's attorney emphasized that the two murderers, abandoning their stolen Chrysler coupe with its engine running in front of the Hart station, fled in the direction of Buckbee and Kishwaukee streets, where Olson resides on the northeast corner.

Mr. Knight said it would have been unusual for the gunmen to leave a car thusly if they had any great distance to go.

North Voices Objections.

Attorney Harry North bitterly objected when Mr. Knight said, "They ran toward the house where Olson lives." The defense contended that there were several residences in the general direction the murderers are said to have fled.

Judge Fisher ruled that it rested with the jury to decide the value of arguments by counsel.

The state read several legal decisions which held that the identification by one witness was enough to sustain a verdict of guilty in a murder case. The state failed to bring in rebuttal testimony after the defense rested. Judge Fisher ruled that testimony to show that it rained an inch and a quarter, according to official records, on September 6, was on a point not covered in direct examination and not subject to rebuttal.

The defense claim was that early in the evening on the day Floyd Stotler met his death he had sprinkled the lawn at his home. Another defense witness, Vito Turicini, watchman in a railroad tower across the street from the Olson home, had declared the day to be warm and sunny.

Fr. Talbot Spoke to Hi-Y Club Boys

The meeting of the Hi-Y club Wednesday noon at the Y. M. C. A. was featured by two seasonal talks. Following the weekly luncheon, A. C. Bowers of the high school faculty gave a most illuminating talk on the life of his youth and bringing a number of interesting episodes to the minds of his hearers. The main address was given by the Reverend Father Richard H. Talbot, new Rector of St. Luke's. As this was Ash Wednesday Father Talbot, by request, gave an address on "The Significance of the Lenten Season," pointing out to his hearers the advantages of observing the season in a worthy manner. The speaker, himself a young man, made a most favorable impression on the boys, who expressed a desire to have him return for another address.

The bride was attractively gowned in tan crepe satin, with accessories to match. Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party went to the Dixon Inn where an elaborate wedding breakfast was served. The bride is the youngest daughter of Mrs. Mary Wall and has lived here all her life, having received her early education here. She was a graduate of Tampico school. Her quiet, unassuming manner made her popular in the circle in which she moved. The groom is a prosperous farmer and a splendid type of a man.

Boston Applauded N. Y. String Quartet

Staid Boston, when the New York String Quartet paid its first visit there in 1925, sat up and took notice. "It was good to hear again a string quartet that played as though inspired by enthusiasm for the music in hand, not as though the performing of chamber music were mere rite and ritual," wrote the critic of the Boston Post. "Not for long in this city, it is safe to say, has Franck's music received a performance so ardent, or one more revealing of its prevailing mood of exaltation."
On their second appearance Philip Hale, the dean of American critics, commented: "Beethoven's Quartet was finely interpreted, with nuances that seemed spontaneous, with a respect that was not obsequious. (There are some players of Beethoven's music who mistake dullness for reverence.) The performance was marked by its total quality, a sense of proportionate values, and intelligent phrasing. And when it pleased Beethoven to be dramatic, the players responded."
On their third visit, Boston surrendered cheerfully and completely, as indicated in the notice which appeared in the Evening Transcript: "The present is the third season in which these men ventured a concert in Boston. They were a quartet of the first rank when first they appeared. Last year they justified their position among a very few leading quartets. This year they assume a place of leadership among quartets. The progress of the New York String Quartet has been steady, certain, cumulative; has, in a word, attained a high goal. It is easy to speak of a good ensemble of this or that group of players or singers. A perfect string quartet reaches above all other ensembles, acquiring a unity of utterance that is uncanny with the mystery of its perfection. Such an ideal—so far as is humanly possible—these four men, Ottokar Cadek, Jaroslav Siskovsky, Ludvik Schwab, Bedrich Vaska, have attained."
Such praise from the foremost critics of one of our most musical cities should make every music lover of Dixon anxious to hear the New York String Quartet when they play at the Dixon Theater, Feb. 26th, under the auspices of the Dixon Civic Music Association.

Motavon-Rosenkrans Wedding Wednesday

A very pretty wedding was solemnized Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Juste Montavon of Compton, when their daughter, Miss Hazel, was united in marriage to Forest Rosenkrans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rosenkrans of Paw Paw. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate families and a few chosen friends of the contracting couple by the Rev. James Thomas, pastor of the M. E. church of Compton.

Wyman Montavon, accompanied by Miss Irene Bansau of Normal, Ill., sang "O Promise Me" prior to the ceremony, and after the bride and bridegroom, entering to the strains of the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, played by Miss Bansau, had taken their places before a bank of ferns and sweet peas in the parlor. Mr. Montavon sang "I Love You Truly" which was followed by the wedding service.

The bride and bridegroom were unattended, the former being gowned in tan crepe trimmed with ecru lace. She wore slippers and hose en costume and carried a bouquet of roses.

Following the ceremony a delicious wedding dinner, which was under

1. How can the annoying habit of making folks wait be prevented in adults?
2. When do adults' table manners begin to form?
3. How young can a child be taught to hold his table silver properly, and to have other good table manners?

1. By teaching them when children to be prompt at meals and in getting off to school and quick to execute orders.
2. When, as babies, they first eat out of a cup or spoon.
3. In his high chair.

Maurice Beem, "Master Farm Home-maker."

For eight years, Mrs. Beem was connected with the University of Chicago nursery. She made a study of the buying habits of women, and concluded that few women bought things for their homes because of the practical advantages.

As a correction of this condition, Mrs. Beem offered the suggestion that women should know more of the actual operation of a washing machine under home treatment, with the baby tugging at the mother's skirt, than what the machine does in laboratory tests.

"Many newspapers and magazines have come nobly to our rescue," she said, "by collecting a large body of information which the housewife can use in her everyday buying. But there is much more that needs to be done."

"We should rejoice that the home economics departments of universities and the government are interested in the housewife as a buyer. With the help of these agencies, we baby-tending, doorbell answering American housewives may learn to become more intelligent purchasers."

FUNDAMENTALS AND FREAKISHNESS.

Mexico has deserted freak legislation for fundamentals and her government bonds have started on an upgrade. Incidentally, those persons in the United States who supported Mexico in her freakishness are left without support either of their own government or that of Mexico.

The constitution of the United States says that no state shall pass any ex post facto law or law impairing the obligation of contracts. Further provision is made that no liberty or property shall be taken without due process of law, and that private property shall not be taken for public use without just compensation.

Such provisions all point to the same security of rights of the individual to his liberty and to his property. They are fundamental principles in the United States and in such republics as drew inspiration from our government in formulating their constitutions. They were born of abuses by despots and thrived on the free soil of the Americas. They have been accepted in civilized countries of the world as they pertain to property rights acquired.

Under its constitution of 1917, Mexico sought by statute to compel owners of lands to exchange their titles for 50-year concessions. So far as that applied to citizens of the United States, our government objected. This objection was not applied to lands acquired subsequently to adoption of the constitution of 1917.

All the Russian sympathizers set up a scream about the administration policy in Mexico. They favored nationalization of the lands of Mexico even to the extent of taking them from persons who had acquired them years ago. Committees of various kinds that have set up headquarters in Washington to dictate foreign policies began broadcasting propaganda in interest of the Mexican theory.

"The mills of the gods grind slowly but they grind exceedingly fine." We may escape fundamental principles for a time, but ultimately we have to get back to them. While freakishness of the decade was trying to upset the fundamentals of a century, the courts of Mexico were grinding.

When the judges had reviewed a test case they held that the government of Mexico had no right to compel exchange of fee simple title for a 50-year concessions. In the light of that decision President Calles recommended and the congress acted, removing the troublesome statute.

That does not mean that all points of disagreement have been removed, but it does mean acceptance of a fundamental principle that ultimately will ameliorate the situation.

President Coolidge and Secretary Kellogg have been vindicated by the courts, not of this nation, but of Mexico. The self-appointed guardians of foreign affairs in opposition to traditional policies of the United States now may give undivided attention to formation of a league of nations in America to nullify the Monroe doctrine.

NO AMERICAN LEAGUE.

There will be no American league of nations. Only representatives of small countries supported the proposal when it came to a vote in the Pan-American union at Havana. The United States will not bind itself in any agreement that supersedes the Monroe doctrine.

Where the proposal for an American league originated has not been disclosed further than that it was taken up by the committee of the Pan-American union that had been delegated to consider codification of international law. It became known before the delegates convened that such a plan would be laid before the congress at Havana.

The more we see of efforts of governments in both hemispheres to render impotent the Monroe doctrine, the more we think of President Monroe and his doctrine; the more we think of the statesmanship of our presidents and secretaries of state who have preserved it and have enunciated it again and again to the world.

Will Hays has ruled that a monkey appearing in a picture Gloria Swanson just made must wear pants. We never have seen a monkey in a picture without them.

Dr. Emil Ludwig says America's four greatest people are Thomas Edison, John D. Rockefeller, Orville Wright and Jane Addams. And he never even mentioned Bossy Gillis!

Chicago fashion expert was quoted as saying that the well-dressed girl wears about twenty ounces of clothing. Next day the women's stores reported record sales.

A golf player says cigaerets keep his throat clear. And that's what a golfer needs, especially in sand traps and at the water hole.

The flapper is gone and we have with us now the sober young woman of poise, with correct speech. We won't believe it until we see a girl with a rat in her hair.

America is a country where a girl poses for a candy advertisement must wear a bathing suit.

The stock market has been cavorting around right smart lately. That's one of the reasons why gentlemen prefer bonds.

THE TINYMITES
STORY BY MAI COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KNICK

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

When all the rubber men were through with doing tricks, one said, "Now you can come with us 'cause you've been nice and treated us real well. We're going to walk through rubber town, first up one street and then right down the next. And things you want to know, we'll very gladly tell."

"Oh, thank you," said the Tinymites. "We're always glad to see new sights. We will not ask too many things for fear we'll tire you out. I'll be real fun to trail along, for all of us are feeling strong." And then the little journey started off with merry shout.

One rubber man said, "There's a tree that is as limber as can be. Why, you can bend the branches till they reach down to the ground. It's made of rubber. That is why." Then Scouty said, "I guess I'll try." And when he let the branches go, they snapped back with a bound. And then they met some rubber bands with whom the Tines all shook hands. "My goodness me, but you .are thin," said Clowny, with a smile. "Of course we are," one small band said. "I haven't even got a head, but with my little body I can stretch about a mile."

This made the Tines laugh out loud. The rubber bands were very proud, and off they walked, and left the Tines standing in the street. Just then a rubber man yelled, "Say, someone is coming down our way." A water bottle was the next the Tines had to greet.

"They found the water bottle kind. 'In me,' it said, 'I'm sure you'll find a very friendly playmate. I will gladly lend a hand, in helping you to sleep tonight. Now huddle up to me. That's right.' And soon the little Tinymites were all in slumberland."

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

Darling Mother:

I could ask you why so many men had indigestion in your day but I won't, because you would write back and declare that they still have it.

Then I'd have to tell you that it's not the food they eat, but the pace they keep. I can't deny that we live fast but I don't know anyone who wants to slow up just to cure indigestion. I think one reason why people used to be slow is that they were always too stuffed with home cooking to get up any pep. Imagine doing the Charleston after eating three pieces of lemon meringue pie. But I don't see why you object so much to our way of living. You didn't live as your mother or grandmother did. And all we moderns have the same values so no one is hurt. No doubt the Driscolls knew perfectly well why we were entertaining them but what did that matter? It's a compliment when people spend money on you these days and no one expects a hostess to make a servant of herself.

Only I wish I'd brought them home and served ham sandwiches instead, because Mr. Driscoll threw Alan down. It was that ridiculous wife of his, I'm sure.

I was going to send Betty a luncheon set but now I've got to buy a new pair of slippers with the money. Anyway, I think Alan sends her money on the sly. Naturally I don't expect him to tell me what he does with his money but I do think that a man's family should realize that it does make a difference when he marries.

Alan sent both his sisters through business college, you know, and now that Betty is married to a man who's always out of a job they still seem to think that Alan ought to send them money. I'd never think of asking Frank for help. I do wish you'd

Of course I don't want her to suffer, but Clyde's her misfortune, not mine, and Alan kicked the other day because I bought an import. Juestion Authority of Banks in Court

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 23—(AP)—Authority of banks to "engage in the practice of law" has been questioned in a bill in information filed in the Supreme Court by the State and Chicago Bar Associations.

The information attacked the practice of banks which employ attorneys to look after legal matters for their clients. So far as could be learned, the attack was without precedent in the state. The bill was directed at the Peoples Stock Yards Bank of Chicago. The bar associations asked that this bank be restrained from engaging in the practice of law and that the supreme court enter a rule regarding the practice of law by corporations of this kind.

After citing various instances in which the stock yards bank engaged in the practice of law the bill continued:

"There are many other banks, trust companies and corporations in Illinois engaged in similar transactions and are engaged in the practice of law without license from this court. Such bank would desist from this practice if the court would entertain this information and enjoin the respondent banks from the commission of such offenses."

Whether the city of Rochelle shall dispose of its municipal electric and water plants and properties to the Federal Public Service corporation of Chicago at a purchase of $500,000 will come before the voters here at a special election to be held March 26.

The offer of the utility company was made at the city council meeting last night by W. H. Schott, its representative who also told the aldermen that if Rochelle should accept it, the city will be the only one in the United States free of indebtedness of any sort and with a trust fund paying into the city treasury a surplus over expense for street lighting and water supply.

25-Year Franchise.
The utility by the offer, would take over all property and equipment of both plants under a 25-year operative franchise, and would continue certain improvements in water mains now started.

Under its plan Rochelle could pay off $50,000 indebtedness, and with interest from the trust fund of $450,000 remaining from the purchase price, could pay the expense for city lighting and water plug fire protection and have a fund of $13,726 remaining. The utility will furnish the street lighting and fireplug water protection for $9,764 a year, according to its proposal.

HEROIC RESCUE FROM INFESTED WATER RELATED

Woman, Unable to Swim Swept Into School of Man-Eaters

New York, Feb. 23—(AP)—The thrilling rescue of a woman who had been swept by a storm into the shark-infested waters off the rock-bound port of Hamilton, Bermuda was related Wednesday on the return of the liner California from a West Indies cruise.

Mrs. L. J. Rosser, wife of an Atlanta, Ga., judge, was tossed from the deck of a harbor boat while returning to the California after a shore visit last Saturday night. A sudden storm swept the water into a swirling fury, with waves eight feet high smashing against the sides of the harbor craft, and Mrs. Rosser was thrown overboard, carrying with her a small wooden rail gate.

Unable to swim and in imminent danger of sharks, Mrs. Rosser clung to the gate for half an hour until she was picked up by one of two lifeboats that narrowly missed destruction on rocks during the hunt in the darkness. Mrs. Rosser, suffering from lung hemorrhages induced by submersion, and shock was taken ashore to the King Edward hospital where her condition was reported as serious.

Four members of the lifeboat crew were injured in the rescue efforts, and clothing was torn from an unidentified young woman as she tried vainly to leap overboard in a rescue attempt.

Judge Rosser, heedless of his own inability to swim, attempted to leap into the sea after his wife, but was restrained by fellow passengers. His mother, Mrs. L. S. Rosser, Sr., paced the deck unaware that the woman in the water was her own daughter-in-law.

Police here seem to be divided on the question of sale of the plants.

Chicago, Feb. 23—(AP)—A man who told acquaintances he was Thomas Dutilh, 33, a Detroit artist, was found dead Wednesday in the apartment of a young woman whom he visited. He had committed suicide by inhaling gas. Miss Martina Ingram, 22, told the police that Dutilh visited her apartment Tuesday night and left announcing that he was going to his hotel. Wednesday morning Miss Ingram and Miss Viola Gibbs, who rooms with her, said they found the man's body in the kitchen, a hose from an open gas jet in his mouth.

This Democrat is Champion of All Candidates

Chicago, Feb. 23—(AP)—William O'Rourke, Chicago coal dealer, stood forth today as the champion candidate for office.

In the democratic column on the April primary ballot his name will stare the voters in the eye from six positions.

He got the thousands of names on his petitions by personal effort and intended to slate himself for a seventh place but did not have the time. O'Rourke could hold four of the six places if selected for them.

He could take his pick of state representative, state auditor or congressman-at-large, and in addition be Democratic senatorial committee man, state committee man and ward committeeman.

Every petition, except the one for ward committeeman, required hundreds of names. Those for state auditor and congressman-at-large required at least 2,000 signatures each.

"It was no child's play getting all those people to sign," explained O'Rourke today. "I got them all myself. I took no chance of anybody claiming the signatures were a lot of phonies."

"During the blizzard last week I got up early enough to be at the car-barns in my ward at 4 a. m., and be able to talk to the street car men."

"I intended to get up another petition for delegate to the democratic national convention at Houston, but I got to work on it too late."

Ottawa, Feb. 23—(AP)—The Journal says that Doris Palmer McDonald, who with her husband, George McDonald, is under sentence of death for the murder of a taxi driver, has no living parents.

The Journal says it was given this information by J. A. Legault, K. C., of Montreal, counsel for the condemned couple. The McDonalds are scheduled to hang next month.

Legault, the paper says, denied that a Mrs. Snyder of Chicago is the girl's mother, as stated in newspaper dispatches.

REPORT DENIED

Chicago, Feb. 23—(AP)—Doris Palmer McDonald, under sentence of death for the murder of a taxi driver, is the daughter of Mrs. Michael Greco of this city, the mother's attorney, James C. O'Brien, said.

Doris was adopted as a child by a Palmer family, he said, the mother at that time being married to Lee Snyder. The attorney's statement was in reply to one made in Ottawa, Canada, by the girl's counsel that she had no living parents.

MASKS NO LONGER PART OF REGALIA OF KU KLUX KLAN

New Degree, "Knights of Great Forest" is Also Inaugurated

Washington, Feb. 23—(AP)—The mask is officially forewarned as part of the regalia of the Ku Klux Klan.

An edict to all Klansmen from the headquarters here of Dr. H. W. Evans, Imperial Wizard, discards the mask, effective today and inaugurates a new degree, Knights of the Great Forest. The edict gave no details concerning the new degree but advised every Klansman to become a member at once.

The action, said a statement from headquarters, was in preparation for "new and larger activities in our national life." Dr. Evans' statement said also that the order had no political ambitions and added that it was now ready for new work because its policy of promoting "100 per cent Americanism by stopping unrestricted immigration," has been made "a part of our national policy."

To Assimilate Aliens
The new activities, the statement said, will concern the "assimilation of those aliens now in America, for the sturdy support of our constitution and law."

The edict by the Imperial Wizard set forth that after today no Klansman shall wear a mask or visor upon his helmet and that members "are forbidden to fraternize with, or remain in Klanshish fidelity to any who violate this order."

Dr. Evans said the departure had been contemplated for some time and that "there has been inside the order a gradually increasing sentiment toward unmasking."

Washington and nearby Klan organizations met last night in compliance with the edict, leaders of some of them asserting that the new order had been anticipated days ago and that their memberships had abandoned the mask.

Chicago Ceremonies
Chicago, Feb. 23—(AP)—Masks of the Ku Klux Klan in Chicago were abandoned last night with elaborate ceremonies in connection with the nationwide move as the organization officially changed its name to the Knights of the Great Forest.

About 3000 Klansmen from the 12 chapters of the "Invisible Empire" established in the city attended the meeting in the auditorium of the Capitol building, Gail S. Carter, of Springfield, Grand Dragon of the Klan in Illinois, officiated.

Assisted by other officers, he ripped the symbolic masks from the faces of members present and announced the reorganization plans. The rest of the regalia, including the helmet and robe, will continue to be worn at meetings, it was said.

No Change in Custom
After the ceremony, Grand Dragon Carter said: "The Klan is no longer a masked order. In the main, however, there is to be no change from the custom of the Klan. We still believe that American ideals should not be changed to accommodate the new population that has come to us through foreign immigration."

The reason for abandonment of the mask is that the first great task of our order—to promote 100 per cent Americanism by stopping unrestricted immigration—has been accomplished.

"The second phase of the Klan's work calls for intensive effort to promote assimilation of those aliens now in America."

"To produce a happy understanding of each other upon the foundations of American principles will continuously engage the attention of the knights for the next few years."

Decatur—After nearly half a century of inactivity, the city government is going ahead with the first relief sewer project since 1884. The work when completed will cost the city nearly a million dollars.

Springfield—Reducing its churches in Illinois from 55 to 51 in the ten-year period from 1916 to 1926, the Church of the Brethren (Conservative) nevertheless gained more than a thousand communicants, it has been reported in a census of religious bodies by the United States Department of Commerce. The membership of the church in Illinois in 1926 was placed at 6,071. Its property was valued at $495,000, and its expenditures in 1926 totaled $115,793.

Mack Thinks Cobb Will be With Team

Philadelphia, Feb. 23—(AP)—Connie Mack at Fort Myers, Fla., has received a long letter from Ty Cobb. The Athletic manager said he "wouldn't be surprised" if the Georgian was with the team again this year. "It is possible he may sign elsewhere," Mack said, "but I really think he is going to be with us again. I don't care how many games he plays, just so he is on the team. I'm sure Ty wants to play ball another season."

New York, Feb. 23—(AP)—Ty Cobb's future has Manager McGraw in the air even though he says he doesn't intend to sign the Georgia peach.

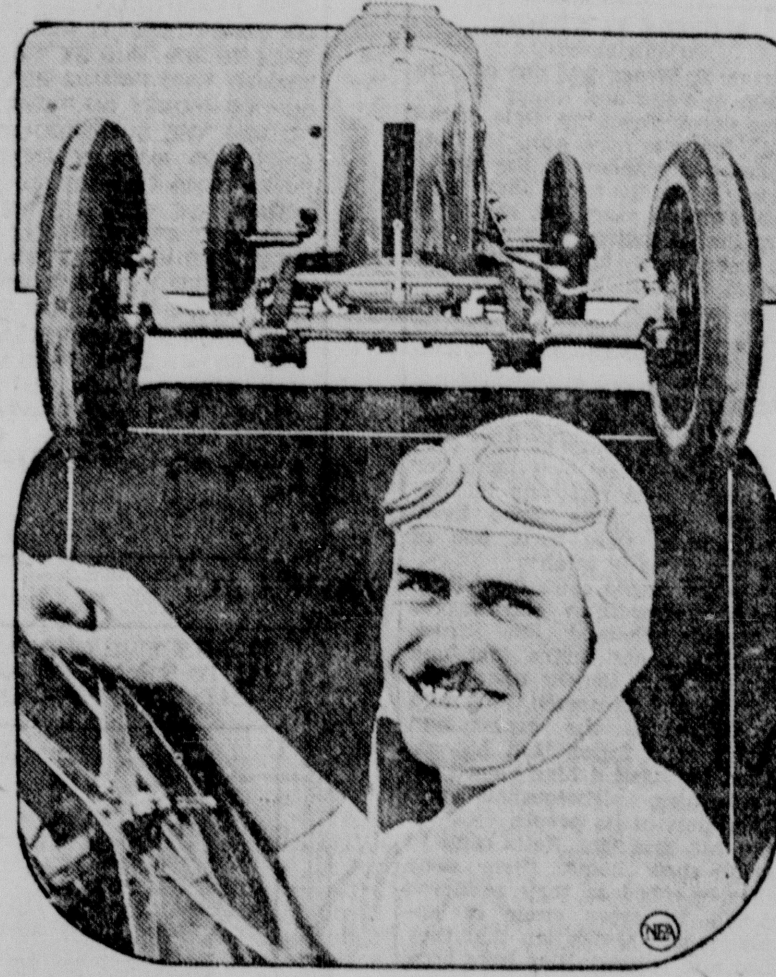

Out at the Giants' camp at Hot Springs, Ark., Manager McGraw is busy denying reports that the veteran Ty will appear in a New York uniform in the coming struggle.

"I have not even spoken to Cobb," said McGraw, "and I certainly have not signed him."

However, the Giants' pilot is swamped by inquiries probably caused by reports that Cobb will work out with the McGrawmen at Augusta.

LINDBERGH MAY BE MEMBER NEW AIRWAY COMPANY

Secrecy Shrouds His Meeting With Several Detroiters

Detroit, Feb. 23—(AP)—An answer to the ever present question of what Col. Lindbergh proposes to do next, may hinge on a conference today between the trans-Atlantic flier, business men and Major Thomas G. Lanphier of Selfridge Field.

Although rumor has linked Major Lanphier, flight commander at the Army air base, and the "Flying Colonel" with a reported new air transportation project between Chicago and New York, with Detroit, Buffalo and Ithaca, N. Y., as terminals, verification was not forthcoming.

Lindbergh refused to discuss the report. Lanphier said that as he was still in the United States Army, he was prevented from taking part in private enterprise. He would not intimate whether he contemplated resigning.

Lindbergh arrived unannounced at Selfridge Field in a plane late yesterday, accompanied by H. M. Bixby, President of the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce; Harry K. Knight, president of the St. Louis Flying Club; Frank Robertson, head of the Robertson Air Mail Contracting firm, and B. F. Mahoney, president of the Ryan Air Lines.

Had Left Conference.

Lanphier arrived at the field a few hours previously in a plane from Buffalo. The group, together with an unidentified local man, believed to be a representative of the Stout-Ford Air Services, immediately went into closed conference, which lasted until late last night. It was said the group was to meet with Edsel Ford today.

Utmost precautions were taken to insure secrecy and at the close of the discussion, conferees were firm in their refusal to comment upon it.

Lindbergh pleaded that he would like to drop out of public life for a while and to avoid interviews.

Equally reticent was Lanphier. He claimed Lindbergh's visit was of a social rather than a business nature.

It was recalled that Major Lanphier, in an address in Buffalo Tuesday, was quoted as saying that a new air transportation concern soon would be operating over the Chicago-New York route. He failed to name the backers of the project, and last night declined to elaborate on the Buffalo address.

THE "CANARY" MURDER CASE

by S. S. VAN DINE AUTHOR OF THE BENSON MURDER CASE

CHARACTERS
PHILO VANCE, Attorney of New York County
MARGARET ODELL (THE "CANARY")
CHARLES CLEAVER, a man-about-town
KENNETH SPOTSWOOD, a manufacturer
LOUIS MANNIX, an importer
DR. AMBROSE LINQUIST, a fashionable neurologist
TONY SKEEL, a professional burglar
WILLIAM ELMER JESSIE, telephone operator
HARRY SPIVELLY, telephone operator
ERNEST HEATH, Sergeant of the Rochelle Bureau

THE STORY THUS FAR
Vance believes Skeel innocent of the murder of Margaret Odell and he has hidden in his endeavor while the stranger did his work. Markham ridicules the theory but Vance is undaunted. He shows Cleaver's riddle of being out of the city the night of the murder and urges Markham to check on thoroughly on Mannix's whereabouts. Dr. Lindquist says he spent the night with a patient, and Vance threatens to bring in the night nurse and question her.

CHAPTER XXXIII
"LET me get this right," put in Heath. "Am I, or am I not, to round up the Finkle woman to-morrow morning?"

"There'll be no need," said Vance. "We are doomed. I fear, not to gaze upon this Florence Nightingale. A meeting between us is about the last thing the doctor would desire."

"That may be true," admitted Markham. "But don't forget that he may have been up to something Monday night wholly unconnected with the murder, that he simply doesn't want known."

"Quite—quite. And yet, nearly every one who knew the Canary seems to have selected Monday night for the indulgence of sub-rosa peccadilloes. It's a bit tick, what? Skeel tries to make us believe he was immersed in Khun Khan Cleaver was—if you take his word for it—touring the countryside in Jersey's lake district. Lindquist wants us to picture him as comforting the afflicted. And Mannix, I happen to know, has gone to some trouble to build up an alibi in case we get nosy. All of 'em in fact were doing something they don't want us to know about."

"Now, what was it? And why did they, of one accord, select the night of the murder for mysterious affairs which they don't dare mention, even to clear themselves of suspicion? Was there an invasion of demons in the city that night? Was there a curse on the world, driving men to dark, bawdy deeds? Was there Black Magic abroad? I think not."

"I'm laying my money on Skeel," declared Heath stubbornly. "I know a professional job when I see it. And you can't get away from those finger-prints and the professor's report on the chisel."

Markham was sorely perplexed. His belief in Skeel's guilt had, he knew, been undermined in some measure by Vance's theory that the crime was the carefully premeditated act of a shrewd and educated man. But now he seemed to swing irresolutely back to Heath's point of view.

"I'll admit," he said, "that Lindquist and Cleaver and Mannix don't inspire one with a belief in their innocence. But since they're all tarred with the same stick the force of suspicion against them is somewhat dispersed. After all Skeel is the only logical aspirant for the role of stranger. He's the only one with a visible motive; and he's the only one against whom there's any evidence."

"I agree with you, Sergeant," said Markham. "I'll get an architect on the job at once." He rang for Swacker and gave the necessary instructions.

Vance extended his legs and yawned.

"All we need now is a Favorite of the Harem, a few blackamoors with palm-leaf fans, and some pizzicato music."

"You will joke, Mr. Vance?" Heath lit a fresh cigar. "But even if the architect don't find anything wrong with the apartment Skeel's liable to give his hand away 'most any time."

"I'm plinnin' my childish faith on Mannix," said Vance. "I don't know why I should; but he's not a nice man, and he's suppressing some thing—Markham, don't you dare let him go until he tells you where he was Monday night. And don't forget to hint mysteriously about the fur model."

(Friday, September 14; 5:30 p. m.)

In less than half an hour Mannix arrived. Heath relinquished his seat to the newcomer and moved to a large chair beneath the windows. Vance had taken a place at the small table on Markham's right where he was able to face Mannix chubbily.

It was patent that Mannix did not relish the idea of another interview. His little eyes shifted quickly about the office, lingered suspiciously for a moment on Heath, and at last

AUTO, SPEEDING
220 MI. AN HOUR
GOES INTO OCEAN

Driver of Stutz Special Had Exciting Experience

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 23.—(AP)—Because he let his standards of sportsmanship outweigh his better judgment, Frank Lockhart, youthful racing driver, must temporarily dismiss his dream of driving a powerful automobile at a greater speed than has ever yet been attained.

His tiny Stutz Blackhawk Special was smashed beyond hope of immediate repair when it catapulted from the beach into the ocean here yesterday afternoon at the rate of 225 miles per hour, and Lockhart is recovering from severe shock and minor injuries at a hospital.

Despite a wet beach and poor visibility brought on by low hanging clouds, he responded to the loud urging of the throng and went out to threaten the record of 206.9 miles an hour which Captain Malcolm Campbell of London, had established Sunday.

Turned Somersault. Lockhart's chances for a new mark went glimmering when his car swerved beyond control and turned a complete somersault to right itself in the sea. Thousands who lined the beach, galvanized by fear at the machine's wild careening, today described the pilot's escape from death as remarkable.

Chisels and blow torches were necessary to extricate Lockhart from the pilot's seat where he had been pinned in the crumpled machine. Breakers swept high over his head while he was in this defenseless position, semi-conscious, adding drowning to his other dangers until the $70,000 speed creation could be towed from the water onto the dry sands above.

Last Trials Today. With today the last day of an official attempt to beat the record against time it seemed that Captain Campbell's record would stand unless he himself should raise it with his Napier Blue Bird Special. The huge 36-cylindrical machine, owned by J. M. White of Philadelphia, was definitely barred from official competition yesterday because it did not meet mechanical requirements of the American Automobile Association.

For several hours after the accident, Lockhart was unable to give an account of what happened to his machine, but William F. Sturm, Lockhart's representative, after talking to the pilot late last night, said he believed the disastrous behavior of the car was caused by too sudden application of the brakes. Sturm quoted Lockhart as saying: "I was travelling down the beach at a high rate when I glanced at my tachometer to see how many revolutions the motor was making. It was doing 6,500 (between 220 and 230 miles per hour) just before the accident happened. I drove through a bright place where the sun was shining—then ran into rain and could not see—and the next thing I knew I was in the ocean." Sturm advanced the theory that when Lockhart entered the area of poor visibility he jammed on the brakes too quickly, causing the rear of the machine to swing around.

Mandell's Title is Not at Stake Today

Chicago, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Sammy Mandell, world's lightweight boxing champion, will risk his prestige and physiognomy but not his title in a ten round bout with Jackie Fields of California at the Coliseum tonight. Both men will be over the lightweight poundage.

Tonight's fight is the second between the men and probably Mandell's last before he exchanges punches with Jimmy McLarnin in a titular match at the White Sox ball park next June. In their last bout, Fields won a 12 round newspaper decision over the champion by his aggressiveness and ability to throw punches from almost every angle.

Despite that defeat, Mandell today ranked a 7 to 5 favorite to win tonight.

Field's rise has been rapid. He got his start in the ring as an amateur around Los Angeles, improved rapidly and was a member of the American Olympic boxing team in 1924. He won the world's amateur featherweight championship.

To allow tonight's match to proceed, Eddie Kane, manager for Mandell, had to post a $5,000 certified check with the Illinois State Athletic Commission as a guarantee that Mandell would go through with his championship match with McLarnin.

Lewis and Panther to Meet on Mat Feb. 29

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

Monday has agreed to meet Joe Malcewicz, Utica, N. Y., here Feb. 29. Gabe Kaufman, local promoter announced today.

Kaufman said the match was made in conformity to an agreement with the managers of Stecher and Lewis prior to their St. Louis meeting whereby the winner agreed to meet the Utica contender. Two falls out of three will decide the match here.

"I am sorry now that we promised to meet Malcewicz," Billy Sandow, manager of Lewis said after his conference with Kaufman. "Lewis had a bitter struggle with Stecher and I regard Malcewicz as a better wrestler than Stecher."

Malcewicz, in telegraphing his acceptance from Utica, said he would leave there immediately for Kansas City. Lewis weighs about 30 pounds more than the Utica Panther.

Sandow also announced he had received an offer of $200,000 for Lewis to appear in the movies, prior to a European tour planned next summer. He said the offer was made by a Chicago company.

Leadership of Big Ten to be Decided

Chicago, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Undisputed possession of first place in the Big Ten basketball race will be decided tonight when Purdue meets Wisconsin at Madison.

Both teams have won six out of seven games and are tied for first place. Each will have four more games to play after tonight's contest and the two will meet in a return contest at LaFayette Saturday night.

Because of their scoring power, the Purdue Boilermakers are favored to win tonight. The Badgers, however, make up in defense what they lack in offense and thus far have turned in the best defensive record in the conference this season, holding their opponents to an average of 21 5-7 points per game. Their average scoring power per game is one of the lowest in the conference, 30 4-7 points. Purdue has held its opponents to 27 1-7 points per contest while running up an average game total of 38 5-7 points.

Wisconsin was defeated once by Illinois. Purdue lost its only game to Indiana. Minnesota provided the upset of the week's play at Minneapolis last
